Current Comment

by
R. H. KNAPPEN

Frequenty it occurs to me that two-bit columnists like myself would be doing everybody a favor if they closed up shop for the duration. These attacks hit me whenever I start to read the learned boys in the business; but invariably, when I've digested their stuff, I say, "Knap, old boy, you could do a lot worse!"

Or do I mean better?

Ever since a bunch of lucky American flyers got through to blast Tokyo and other important Japanese centers, barroom strategists in the U. S. A. have been sitting around looking like the cat that ate the canary. Many thought the initial bombing of the Isles of Nippon marked the beginning of the end for Japanese ambitions. But it's not going to be as easy as that.

Yesterday a task air force of the little brown borthers laid a few hatchings of eggs on Dutch Harbor. No one except the participants, and the recipients — so far — know how much damage was done. It is reasonable to believe, however, that U. S. forces there were set for the fireworks, and that no great wreckage resulted. Yet most everywhere I went last night optimism had fallen to the lance of defeat, and many envisioned an immediate attack on the west coast of America. And many were wishing they had given more attention to the lads who, in weeks past, have tried to tell them how to meet a bombing raid with a modicum of equanimity.

Such notables as James Landes and Henry Stimson have done little to allay the fears of westcoasters, having stated that we are practically certain to experience a few air raids—if nothing more than a token reprisal for the Tokyo bombing.

As I write this my youngster's radio peeled off a San Francisco station which immediately went dead, and I'm wondering if perhaps we're not in for a bit of a blackout tonight?

Anyway, until the local siren blasts me out of a year's growth I'm continuing on the same strain; that is, until we hear a few bombs fall, we shouldn't stew too much about the Japs. It is quite possible—indeed probable — that the west coast will get a taste of what's happening elsewhere in the world. In the meantime, the best bet is to remain cool and collected and remember that few eggs will be laid on a hamlet like Campbell unless enemy airmen can't find a better target within a few hundred miles. We should keep in mind that if a bombing raid is launched on this coast, our biggest job, locally, will be to succor evacuees from hard-hit industrial centers.

Well, the punk's radio is still dead—indicating either an alert in San Francisco or a bum tube, and this column may stink by tomorrow.

I got quite a boot out of the boys last night when it was my good fortune to announce the impending gas rationing program. Week before all anybody could talk about was tires; now they won't have to worry. With three gallons of gas per week nobody's tires are going to wear out very fast—except those of the U. S. congressmen and senators who recently demanded unlimited ration cards. This is just another case where the rank and file must pay the piper for the reckless attitude of the screwballs who think, "Oh well' there'll be rubber or rubber substitutes within a few months, so to h--- with conservation." Little do they know, the saps! For even if our chemists devise a synthetic rubber, there will be none for civilian consumption. Today, even in a fairly good re-tread, I personally believe there is no more than five per cent of good, live rubber—the balance being reclaimed

Club Holds Annual Picnic At Field Home

The Country Woman's club closed an active and successful club year on Monday with a picnic-meeting in the lovely garden of Mrs. Carl Field on North Second street.

After a delicious luncheon Mrs. G. E. Jeffers called to order the business meeting. At this time it was voted that Mrs. Marion Howes be made an honorary member of the group. Mrs. Oliver S. Price was elected as a new member in the club.

Mrs. Jeffers thanked various members, committees and officers for helping her during the year and then she turned the meeting over to Mrs. Ralph Hyde, who spoke a few timely words before installing the new officers.

The new board of directors is made up of the following persons: President, Mrs. George E. Jeffers; first vice president, Mrs. W. H. Van Dyke; second vice president, Mrs. Sue Boyce; treasurer, Mrs. Joseph O. Leverton; recording secretary, Mrs. E. L. Farnham; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ellis Crane; parliamentarian, Mrs. Wyland R. Morgan; directors at large, Mrs. A. W. Wellington, Mrs. Charles G. Simonds.

At the close of the meeting program booklets for next year were given out by Mrs. G. E. Farley, program chairman. She was assisted by Mrs. Dan Clark and Mrs. Ralph Hyde in planning the program. The general theme of the year is to be "Our Neighbors to the South; Mexico and Countries of Central and South America."

The remainder of the afternoon was spent on cards and lawn games.

Mrs. S. N. Hedegard was in charge of arrangements for this enjoyable picnic-meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. M. F. Hughes, Mrs. L. E. Hendricks and Mrs. J. B. Collins.

The name of Mrs. A. W. Johnson was inadvertantly omitted as one of the program committee serving on May 18.

STICK THAT PATCH ON!

Eva Mitchell Is Lovely Bride of Joseph M. Dahl

The marriage of Miss Eva Mitchell and Joseph Martin Dahl was solemnized at beautiful rites Sunday afternoon in the Methodist church.

The ceremony was performed before the altar rail, with the pulpit banked with white baby gladioli, Watsonias and greenery, and at either side of the bridal party, tall candelabra, with lighted white tapers.

The bride, escorted by her brother, Edwin Mitchell of Palo Alto, was lovely in a gown of white net over satin made with a fitted bodice and full skirt with train. A full length veil fell from a Juliet cap bordered with a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of orchids and bouvardia.

Mrs. Edwin Mitchell was matron of honor and her frock was pale green and she carried lavender sweet peas. Mrs. Roland Edison, sister of the bride and Mrs. Klaude Block were bridesmaids, in gowns fashioned alike, the former's of pink with which she carried deep pink sweet peas, and the latter's of blue with pale pink sweet peas.

Master Donald Baldwin carried the ring on a white satin cushion and the flower girl, Joline Howard, who wore a long dress of white net, scattered pink rose petals from her basket.

Hans Hansen attended Mr. Dahl as best man and ushers were Mr. Roland Edison, brother-in-law of the bride and Mr. Klaude Block.

Officiating was the Rev. Donald H. Baldwin. Soloists were Mrs. Howard Church who sang "Because" preceding the ceremony, and at its close Mrs. Earl Buck, whose selection was the "Prayer Perfect." Their accompanist, who also played the traditional wedding music, was Mrs. Beryl Peterson Mead of San Jose.

Friends extended their congratulations in the church and then a reception for the bridal party and relatives was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Austin, North First street.

Following a wedding trip north, Mr. and Mrs. Dahl will return to a new home, completely finished and furnished on North Harrison avenue.

The bride has lived in Campbell for many years where she has been a very earnest and active worker in the Methodist church, and an efficient office worker in San Jose.

Mr. Dahl is engaged in the real estate and insurance business, succeeding the late B. O. Curry. He has taken an active interest in the chamber of commerce and public affairs.

Mervin Nicholls,, Icky to his Campbell friends, was limelighted in Frank Freeman's Here 'tis column yesterday as follows:

Mervin (Icky) Nicholls, son of Mr. & Mrs. OJN of Campbell, is needed in army, it seems, to scare those sawed-off Japs. He's Icky, you see, because he stands 6 feet 5½. They miss him so much out in Campbell one of his friends, MSW, concocted an ode to him:

Our pal has joined the army
To help us win this war.
There is so very much of him
We miss him all the more.

Funeral Services will be held Friday, June 5, at 2:00 p. m. from the Place Funeral home in Los Gatos for Daniel Robert Carney, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carney and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carney of Campbell. The baby only six months old, passed away Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank Anderson and Marilyn and David will leave about May 15 to join Dr. Anderson at San Pedro. Their home on West Campbell avenue has been rented to the L. L. Wheelers.

Kiwanians Hear Talk by San Jose Attorney

James F. Boccardo, attorney of San Jose gave an explanatory talk to the Kiwanis club Tuesday on the "Organization of the San Jose Manufacturers Association" with Joe Gomes doing the honors as chairman.

Betty Farmer of the graduating class of the Campbell Union Grammar school sang a solo, accompanied by Elaine Knapp, also of the class, who also played a piano solo.

This coming Tuesday the Rev. Joyce Farr of Oakland will be the speaker, and his father-in-law, John Lynden will preside.

Water Company Opens New Office

The Campbell Water company opened for business Monday in their new office building, which is a model of efficient and attractive planning.

The placing of equipment and storage facilities was done from plans worked out and revised over a period of years and is proving entirely satisfactory.

The building is insulated, which with provision for ventilation and use of electric fans will keep the room comfortable on hot days. Lighting is exceptionally good and decoration inside and out is attractive without ornamentation.

As heretofore, the P. G. & E. and telephone company pay offices for Campbell patrons are maintained with the Water company.

Marion Peake Is Studying in East

Miss Marion Peake, daughter of Mrs. Florine Peake of Los Gatos-Santa Clara road, is now in Boston, for which she left recently, to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After completion of this course she will begin instructing supervisors who in turn will teach women inspectors who will insure that precision instruments made in defense factories meet military specifications.

Miss Peake graduated from Campbell Grammar school, Notre Dame High school in San Jose and Santa Barbara State college.

For some time she held a position in Palo Alto as a social secretary, but seeing a notice of an examination for a civil position to be held in San Francisco she took it and passed so successfully that she was selected for a course of instruction which was completed with such credit that she was notified to report at Boston for additional work, which will insure her an important post.

A civilian employed by and responsible to the army, she wears a blue-grey uniform and the insignia of the chemical warfare division on the lapels.

CAR POOLING

Only far-sighted measures will enable Californians to keep their cars rolling, and "group riding" in private automobiles, on a planned basis, heads the list of measures. But, motorists have paid little heed to this call to pool their cars.

A recent survey proves that the average number of passengers per car today is less than two—and that includes the drive. Translated into terms of transportation, this means that the automobiles which clutter our streets and highways today are being used to less than 40 per cent of capacity. This is an obvious waste and waste in a nation at war is a cardinal sin. It is a waste of tires, equipment and time. If half these empty motor cars were off the roads, which would be the case if motorists pooled, there would be no traffic jams confronting those driving to and from work.

In some neighborhoods we have been told, the housewives have arranged to do their weeks shopping on the same day and use their cars in rotation.

If it becomes necessary for any one to make a "trip to town" why not see if a neighbor may have errands, too, and combine use of cars in that way.

Remember, also, that walking is rated very highly as a health measure. Imagine you are a member of the Sierra club out "hiking."

GONE WITH THE WIND?

Maybe the war has crowded 'em out of the news, or maybe their fad has long since given up the ghost. At all events, the nudists seem to have passed from our midst and crept off silently into oblivion.

Their exodus disputes the old saying that fads flourish when the time and place are ripe for them. The nudist, by the manner in which he chooses to live, is eminently qualified to render his greatest service to the country not in time of peace, but in time of war. We are all rightly urged to save, to shun waste like a pestilence, to restrict our use of vital materials with unflagging zeal. Take the nudist. He requires neither woolens, cotton, silk or any other apparel or material used by the armed forces. He walks unshod on the full sole, not even needing rubber for a shoe heel. "Frozen" styles are no hardship to him, he being already acclimated, we suspect, to freezing. He tends to live vegetatively; his wants are few. He is, in many respects, the ideal consumer for a nation at war.

And now in the nation's hour of need he and his cohorts have vanished. What with priorities and rationing, maybe they figured it was everybody else's turn to strip to the bone, figuratively speaking.

War-borne prosperity is going up in smoke—at least to a limited extent. We note that sales of expensive cigars, those costing 20 ments or more, increased 64 per cent in April compared with the preceding April record. Sales of those costing five cents or less have likewise been soaring at the fastest rate in history. A rapidly rising birth rate has doubtless played its part here. At all events, between the proud fathers and prosperous wage-earners, we're raising plenty of smoke.

MEXICO TAKES HER STAND

With Mexico, one of the greatest of Latin American powers, having declared war on the Axis, the Western hemisphere now presents a nearly united fighting front against its common enemy.

The destruction of Mexican lives and shipping by enemy submarines, and the insolent rejection of Mexico's protest to Germany, were the immediate steps leading to the formal declaration of war. But long before this, Mexico had give nits pledge of allegiance to the struggle of the United Nations. To Mexico's eloquent young foreign minister, Ezequiel Padilla, goes much of the honor for bringing about a notable demonstration of unity among Pan-American nations at the Rio conference last January.

America's Good Neighbor policy is not a miracle-working salve, able over-night to heal old wounds completely, but it has gone far to encourage a more friendly working partnership among the nations of this hemisphere. Contrast our relations with Mexico in the present war with the unhappy state of affairs prevailing in World War I when our two countries took up arms against each other.

Today, against the common enemy, our neighbor republic is fully allied with us for the first time in history. To all free, enlightened people in this hemisphere and outside it, it has become self-evident that only a victory of the United Nations can assure freedom and the hope of progress.

Delegates Enjoy PTA Convention

Mrs. Carl B. Field and Mrs. Anthony Jurras greatly enjoyed the P.-T. A convention in Long Beach which they attended from May 19 to 21.

Mrs. Field returned to her home last week-end, but Mrs. Jurras, who visited friends in the southland after the convention, is expected home shortly.

Mrs. Field commented on the number of delegates and interested P.-T. A. members who attended the convention. The registration included 2,239 credited delegates and a total of 2411 persons attending. From the sixth district of which Campbell is a member, 38 voted and approximately 50 members were represented.

"How Firm a Foundation," the theme of this year's convention, stressed the continuation of the regular P.-T. A. work of child protection plus defense work in the present need. Each P.-T. A. member is urged to give at least four hours to each drive which takes place in his or her community. If everyone takes a part, it will be less of a strain on a few.

The P.-T. A. encourage the purchase of War Bonds and Stamps regularly and in a systematic way as far as it is possible for the individual purchaser.

William Wardwell of San Jose-Los Gatos road who was taken to O'Connor sanitarium several days ago in a serious condition is reported much better and will soon be permitted to leave.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

"The Bond Between Us" by Frederic Loomis, M. D.

Fulfilling my promise of last week, today I bring you a sketchy outline of what you will find in Dr. Loomis' successor to Consultation Room his first book which won for itself universal recognition.

"The Bond Between Us—The Third Component" is a book that embodies real heart breaking tales of love and marriage and family relationships. The author, in introducing himself, says "I am a gynecologist and obstetrician. A gynecologist is a surgeon whose field is limited to the ills and the problems of women." As a doctor to women's ills, Dr. Loomis' reputation is widely respected while on the other hand as a doctor to women's problems his reputation is a respected tradition.

To begin with, in his latest book, the author gives us a very brief sketch of the highlights of his own personal career. He is so modest about himself, though, that only the important steps in his life that led him on to the brilliant heights in his medical profession are related. He was attending the University when the first World War broke out and his studies were interrupted when he enlisted and after the war was over he went to Alaska and mined gold to finance the remainder of his education. However, some ten years elapsed while he was up there and it was by a most thrilling and unbelievable incident and meeting with a couple of fellows from the States that made him decide to come back and finish his University course and become an M. D.

In this book we are shown the strength and beauty of "The Third Component" as the author puts it—the bridge of emotions, the thorough understanding between man and woman, between husband and wife and between mother and father and the children.

Another feature in this book that endeared it to me was the pages that Dr. Loomis is devoted to ethical standards for the patient. Some readers may think that he gets a bit preachy, but to me he was talking sincere common sense. Don't think that he neglected to include a few caustic remarks about ethical standards for the doctors, too.

Next week we will talk "Islandia" by Austin Tappan Wright.

Mrs. Hervey Voge and little daughter Suzanne, of Berkeley, were holiday week-end guests of Mrs. Lillian R. Voge, North Second street.

Adult Farm Labor Sign-up Begins Next Monday

A vigorous campaign to register every available adult in the county for farm and cannery work will begin next Monday, under the auspices of the Farm Labor Subcommittee of the County USDA War Board and the United States Employment Service, with the assistance of the Civilian Defense groups.

The sign-up was delayed from the week of May 25 to 31 in order not to interfere with the War Stamp and Bond Pledge campaign.

Every adult with time available who has farm or cannery experience should sign the volunteer card which will be presented to him or her. Those that do not have this experience but feel that they want to contribute to the "Food for Victory" campaign, should also sign the card and make themselves available for work in connection with the harvesting and processing of the crops. The need is urgent, due to the fact that a minimum amount of migrant labor will come into the county this year. The great need will be in pears, followed by prunes, then walnuts, tomatoes and sugar beets.

Student labor has already been signed up with the cooperation of the schools in the county. This student labor will add a great contribution to the war effort. However, the entire load cannot be carried by them, and it is, therefore, necessary that adults volunteer for work, in aiding this "all out" appeal for labor. All volunteer workers will be paid wages prevailing at the time of work and will be notified when needed by the U. S. Employment Service. All farmers have been asked to list their needs with the Service, thereby assisting the Board in determining the number of workers needed in the various crops.

This is a year when crops will be in jeopardy unless men and women, boys and girls, volunteer to assist the farmer in harvesting. The crops are a most essential part of the war effort and are needed, not only for the civilian population, but for that large group of soldiers and sailors who are fighting the battle for Victory.

The registration in San Jose will be accomplished on a door to door appeal by the Women's Auxiliary of the Civilian Defense which was arranged through the cooperation of the defense council. In Los Gatos and Mt. View the sign-up will be taken care of by Boy Scouts. In Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, Morgan Hill, Gilroy and Palo Alto, the sign-up will be taken care of by the Civilian Defense group.

In Campbell the Civilian Defense group, under the direction of W. H. Van Dyke, principal of the high school, will accomplish the registration. In Cambrian district the sign-up will be taken care of by the defense group.

Anyone who wishes to volunteer, but who is not approached by these groups can obtain a registration card at the U. S. Employment Service, 393 S. 2nd st., San Jose or from the groups mentioned above.

Lewis W. Armstrong chairman of the County USDA War Board urges all patriotically minded to sign up at this time and to indicate by their action that they are solidly behind the "Food for Victory" campaign. Hillis Hooper, San Jose manager of the Employment Service, emphasizes the need for workers and the facilities of his office have been expanded to take care of this sign-up and to route labor to the points where it is needed.

Seniors Entertain Student Body

"Class of '42, Twenty Years Hence" was the theme chosen by the graduating seniors for their annual class day assembly given in the school auditorium Wednesday.

The class pictured Campbell of 1962 with its gigantic canning industry, subways and the beautiful Hotel Campbell including the noted "Golden Fleece Room."

The program concluded with a few very impressive patriotic tableaux of a Red Cross nurse; crosses on the battlefield to which was read "Flanders Field," and the Statue of Liberty. The final scene was made even more impressive as the student body sang the "Star Spangled Banner," while the spotlight shown on the Statue of Liberty.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

The farmer not only has a tremendous job of production to do in aiding the war effort; he has a vital job to do in conserving and efficiently utilizing machinery and equipment — particularly trucks and automobiles — so as to avoid any possibility of a break down in farm-to-market transportation facilities.

Emphasizing that replacements may be exceedingly difficult, if not impossible, Robert Hicks, chief of the Farm Vehicle section of the Division of Motor Transport, office of defense transportation has appealed to farmers to cooperate in a conservation program built along the following lines:

1. Farmers must maintain a strict and efficient program of "preventive maintenance" to keep their equipment in good running order, to avoid unnecessary waste of oil, gas and rubber, and to prevent needless wear or damage to parts.

2. Farmers and haulers of farm products must eliminate the unnecessary use of all motor vehicles. Trips from farm to market with empty trucks for anything less than a full load must be eliminated.

3. To reduce the use of vehicles and conserve materials and rubber, it is necessary that farmers cooperate with their neighbors in transportation pools. The use of the truck as a means of personal transportation on the farm or elsewhere must be eliminated.

4. Farmers must revise their marketing and buying habits to eliminate all unnecessary trips.

"It is our firm conviction," declared Mr. Hicks, "that if every farmer will cooperate to the fullest extent this program will reduce farm-owned motor vehicle mileage by 35 to 50 per cent. It will save rubber and other vital materials, manpower and money. It will eliminate a great deal of waste and improve farm marketing methods."

Field studies are now being made to determine the best means of organizing local committees, taking inventory of available equipment, planning the routing and pooling of loads to and from market, according to Mr. Hicks, and tests will soon be made.

California farmers who want to cooperate in this program will find one difficulty that may be insurmountable: the California law that prohibits hauling for compensation, even by farmers except as a casual service to other farmers. It is to be hoped that some means of relaxing the licensing restrictions in the furtherance of the conservation program can be quickly worked out.

and good for speeds not in excess of 35 miles an hour.

As I pointed out last week in regard to the tire situation rationing programs so far have caused the defense worker little inconvenience. "There are plenty more where these came from," thinks he in his abysmal ignorance, and yet it took speed surveys on main highways to bring about west coast rationing. And the tin-hat was the worst offender of the lot.

While the defense worker will be able to get all the gas he needs to get to and from work, we'll all live to see the day when there are at least four of them to a car—and the car will probably have a government-sealed 35-m. p. h. governor firmly lashed to the motor.

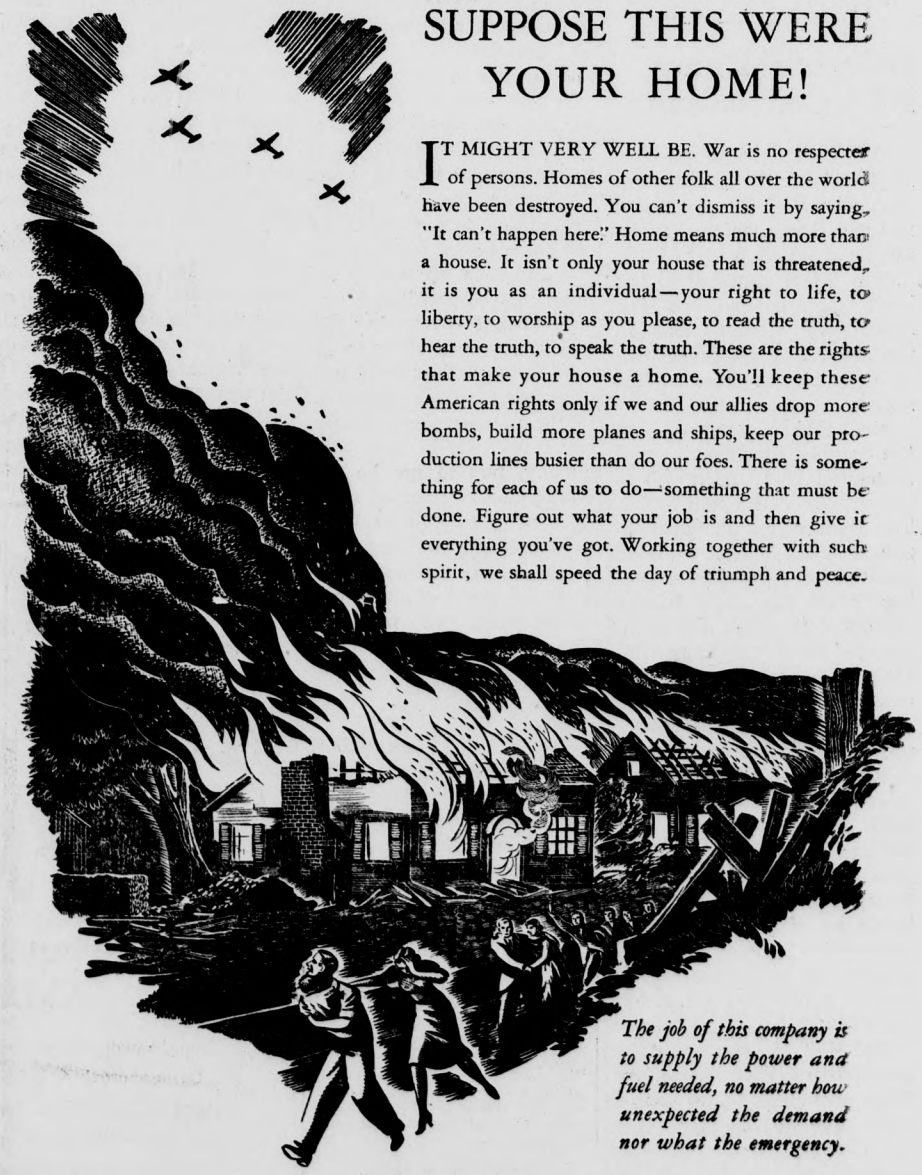
SUPPOSE THIS WERE YOUR HOME!



IT MIGHT VERY WELL BE. War is no respecter of persons. Homes of other folk all over the world have been destroyed. You can't dismiss it by saying, "It can't happen here." Home means much more than a house. It isn't only your house that is threatened, it is you as an individual—your right to life, to liberty, to worship as you please, to read the truth, to hear the truth, to speak the truth. These are the rights that make your house a home. You'll keep these American rights only if we and our allies drop more bombs, build more planes and ships, keep our production lines busier than do our foes. There is something for each of us to do—something that must be done. Figure out what your job is and then give it everything you've got. Working together with such spirit, we shall speed the day of triumph and peace.
